

Maxibit Eagle, Brochure Stand

The Science of Style

Maxibit's Eagle represents the fine balance between science and good looks. With its elegant appearance and smooth Scandinavian design, Eagle provides secure storage and hassle free transportation. Being both clear and curved, its shatterproof plexiglass pockets are perfectly designed to show off your advertising material whilst looking good at the same time. With its fool proof auto-locking mechanism, Eagle is set up in seconds, standing tall and strong to accommodate the most enthusiastic public. Unlike other brochure stands, as more and more brochures are added, the whole system's centre of gravity moves towards the middle of its base, making it extremely stable. Once in the locked down position, the same auto-locking mechanism affords your brochures smooth transportation. Cocooned in their plexiglass pockets and locked firm in place, your brochures will always be sheltered from the ruff and tumble of the most brutal transportation. Maxibit Eagle also comes in a sleek nylon carry bag for enhanced portability.

A clever compliment

Eagle has been engineered to be the perfect compliment to any marketing display. Its timeless design and quick set up means that it can be deployed any time and anywhere. Its small footprint and low centre of gravity allows it to be placed in the most crowded areas but for maximum impact the system is best used in tandem with other products in the Maxibit range. For the campaign trail, one might use Eagle with Maxibit Zap for a subtle yet powerful shopping mall display, while at the trade fair, several Eagle used side by side can add elegance to Maxibit Stage and create that powerful impact you've been looking for. Eagle also comes in three different colours, red, black and light grey and will easily compliment your brand or display.
